

FLY RIGHT!

The Sound

We all remember how it felt to be in high school: driving in a beat-up car with our friends on the highway — windows down, going a little too fast, music blasting, and a world of adventures yet to be lived.

With a burst of unbridled excitement, youthful joy, contagiously high libido, and a sparkle of nostalgia, Fly Right comes smashing in, full of neons, guitars, and fun to remind us of what we used to love and what still lies ahead.

Following in the iconic footsteps of its '90s and '00s forefathers (Fountains of Wayne, Sugar Ray, and Third Eye Blind, to name a few), Fly Right takes that sound and sprinkles in creative positivity, upbeat messaging, and a little bit of punk rock.

Fly Right anthems have broad appeal — from high schoolers who want to have fun, party and feel good, to Millennials, now in their 30s, who remember those days as if it were yesterday. They are the perfect score for skateparks, coming-of-age films, and of course sporting arenas. They were made to create an atmosphere of good times, where listeners emerge as champions — victorious, inspired, happy, and hungry for more.

The Name

Our choices make up who we are and what type of life we want to live. Nothing about Fly Right is small, quiet, cautious or conservative. We want to have fun, laugh a lot, sing loud, and tear it up. In other words... we want to fly right.

Are you listening to music?

Make it fun and play it loud.

Are you playing a sport?

Go hard, tear it up, and WIN.

Are you partying?

Get with the friends you love and trust, and live it up.

The Details

Fly Right is fronted by Matty McNamara, a veteran of national tours opening for The Used, Sum 41, POD, and more, and festivals like AfterShock, Shiprocked, and the Warped Tour 25th anniversary reunions. He is represented by manager Scott Waldman, whose roster includes Hunter Burgan (AFI) and Matt Reilly (Avril Lavigne). Fly Right is signed to rock/pop label Badself Records.
